Postmaster elect Mr. Hall, to appoint a successor more generally succeptable. It is a matter of the deepest regret, amongst his friends here and siewhere, that Mr. Pearce thought it his duty to decline the post of Secretary of the Interior. The appointment was asignal and deserved rebuke to the neutrine "Court Heure clique" of Baltimore, of which the late Attorney General was the exponent, and which has for years exerted such a maign influence upon the fortunes of the whigs in Maryland. The name of his successor has not transpired. Messrs. Webster, towin, Hall, and Graham are already at their respective posts; the acceptances of Messrs Crittende and Bates are still regarded problematical; the former is expected to reach this city

The question of the Compromise is still the subject of Berce debate in the Senate, and what will be the ultimate fate of the bill it is impossible to conjecture, although the fronds of the measure have become more sangular of success since the proposition to refer the Texan boundary to a Board of Commissioners. The projector of the measure, the wearshele statesman of Rentucky, made on Monday last, one of the most powerful appeals in its behalf, that ever echoed in the halls of the Senate. It was every way worthy of the mea and the occasion, and may be regarded as the last; expiring effort of the distinguished Senator in its behalf. The vote will probably be taken upon it before the close of the week. The long agony will be over—the long auspense terminated. In the course of his remarks, Mr. Clay took occasion to administer a rebuke to Rhett, of South Carelina, in view of the rank distunion principles avowed in his late speech at Charleston. It was a castigation which the honorable member will recollect during the period of his natural life.

The weather in this region still continues warm, and from the peculiar type of a prevalent disease, apprehensions are strongly entertained that the scourge, the cholera, will seen be in our midst, from which, upon its last visit, we were fortunate enough to escape.

There is a very pretty piece of scandal now going the rounds in the enjoy and consequence of a certain ladies of an "uncertain age," closely touching a jeundam correspondent of a certain New York paper; but is not our province to deal in such ware, and we therefore leave it for the comments of others.

Washington, July 22, 1850. Galphin Diplomacy-Dignified Conduct of Mr. Secretary Clayton-Scene from the Farce of "Portuguese Claims"

-Motto of the Late Cabinet, "Fork Over !"

As the curtain has fallen on the Galphin cabinet, I feel it my duty to record some of the prominent traits of their history.

During the excitement connected with the claims on Portugal. (for the capture of the privateer General Armstrong, in the port of Payal.) when Mr. Clayton was endeavoring to get up a war feeling, to hide the Galphin robbery, the Portuguese Minister received Galphin robbery, the Portuguese Minister received important despatches from his government, which he was anxious to place before the late Secretary of State, believing he should at once amicably arrange all. He was received at the State Department by Mr. Clayton, who, placing both feet on the table, desired the minister to proceed.

The friends of Maybury Turner were present in strong force, and carried their point, failing muxt Monday evening as the time for electing delegates, and the Thursday foilowing for the assembling of the Convention to select a candidate.

Colonel Stansbury, the present incumbent, denies that he has withdrawn his name, as a candidate for re-election, so that there is now four in the field, each and all determined to do their best to obtain the nomination. The only man of the four that could be elected, if nominated, stands the poorest chance of obtaining the normantion—that is, Joshua Vansant, Eng. Let either of the others be nominated, and, if the whigs bring out a good and true man, they will elect him without nuch trouble.

Frederika Bruner, the Swedich utthoreas, who has been adjourning in this city for a few days past, left yesterday for cape May, from whence she will proceed to Saratoga. She shows her excellent good sense by carefully shunning the crowde of inquisitive flatterers that follow her, and sected disposed to remain in quiet, or enjoy the company of a few select friends, rather than be gazed at by the throng.

Information has been received that Mr. Peter Carothers, a gestleman almost universally known, was drowned a few weeks show on Chagres river, having fallen from a cance, and was carried down with the current, rendering all attempts to save him futile.

Four companies of finely uniformed and equipped military, numbering about 100 beys, between the ages at twoive and eighteen years, the student's of St. Timothy's Itali, an Episcopal boarding school, few miles from this city, have just marched down to the Annapolls boat on their way to pay a visit to the Governor, who is to entertain and review them. Sudden Death-General Lopes, &c. About midnight, last night, an alarm of fire was given, which proceeded from the upper stories of two stores on Baltimore street, near Tripolett's alley, which were soon extinguished, merely burning off the roofs. Whilst the firemen were actively engaged in extinguishing this, another alarm was given, which roofs. Whilst the firemen were actively engaged in extinguishing this, another alarm was given, which proceeded from the extensive chair manufactory of Mesers A & J. B. The flames aprend with the rapidity of lightning, and in ten minutes, the carriage manufactory of Samuel Childs, and the cabinet manufactory of Samuel Childs, and the cabinet manufactory of Wesley B.

The cause of the first is unknown, but, as it was in the immediate vicinity of the other fire, it is probable that it caught from the sparks, though the report prevailed that it, like the first, was the work of an incondiary. Several persons were injured during the fire, and a sceman, named Henry Needham, died from heat and saccomes, named Henry Needham, died from heat and saccomes are nown being creeked, in this vicinity, no less than fifteen sugar mile, at, probably, an average cost of $10,000 each. prices rise—and they will rise 25 per cent above the present ruling rates. There is not the slightest doubt, but that such a contingency will take place. Not a ton of a coal can be shipped from the Lebish region for weeks to come; and the principal mines of the Delaware and Hudson Canal Company are in such a condition from the overflow of water that it is thought they cannot be placed in working order before the first of October. From the Lackawana region, the accounts are nearly as unfavorable; and the Schujkill Canal, as you are aware, cannot be placed in navigable order sgain before the middle or latter end of August. The only improvement in the State over which coal is now being transported, is the Reading Railroad, and which will be worked up to its full capacity until the close of the season. To-day, the shipments will amount to 5,400 tons and which can and will be increased several hundred tons.

Two new powerful steamboats (propellers) have been added to the canal transportation line between this city and New York. The run between the two cities will be made in about twenty hours, including fortytwo miles of canal navigation.

Sir Henry Bulwer and Miss Fredericka Bremer honored us with their presence yesterday. The latter is stopping with Professor Hart, of the High School.

The heat, yesterday, was overpowering, both for man and beast, and the papers of this morning chronicle several cases of each assist. During the might, we were favored with a refreshing shower, and to-day the weather is quite pleasant—the mercury not rising higher than eighty.

There is very little said or thought about political matters; and although many of the newspapers are getting up a small tempest, because Pennsylvania has been overlooked in the cabinet appointments, the masses do not care two straws about R. Arrival of General Pacz, 4c.
General Pacz, the hero of Venezuela, has arrived in this city, and is now stopping, with a number of his friends, who accompanied him from St. Thomas, at the Washington Hotel. He was waited upon this morning, by a large number of our citizens, including a fair delegation from our fellow citizens of the female sex. He is apparently about sixty years of age, stout, and under the medium size. It is understood that he will remain in this city until the contemplated arrangements for a public reception in New York are completed.

Since the above was written, I learn that General Pass leaves this afternoon for New York. Extensive arrangements are making for the Taylor obsequies on Tuesday next. It will be an imposing Frederika Bremer leaves for Cape May next week.

On the fourth of July, a row was kicked up at Ha sleton, soon after the Declaration of Independence had been read, and the Odd Fellows had opened their had been read, and the Odd Fellows had opened their new hall. Several shots were fired, and stones were thrown in abundance. The innocent suffered mest. A boy, about seven years of age, had his leg broken; several were wounded, though none fatally. One had his skull fractured, but he is new nearly recovered. On the 18th, the village of Jeanseville had every good house in it burnt to the ground, and is now the picture of distress.

On the 18th, as one of the Haulston trains of coal cars was on the way to Penn Haven, a woman of the name of Mayer was knocked down and run ever; the engine was thrown completely off the track. The woman had her hand cut off, and her leg cut in two places, below the knee, and also above the knee, and her side was awfully lacerated. She died in about two hours after the necident.

New Gas Light.

Knowing the Herald's desire to obtain early and authentic information of any important movement in the arts and sciences, as well as in the personal, religious and political world. I announce that there have recently been great improvements made in the appa ratus and process for manufacturing illuminating gas, which is destined to effect a revolution in the mode and prices of supplying gas, and of lighting. The pa-tentee, Andrew Walker, Jr., of Burks, Vt., is entitled to the gratitude of mankind, and deserves well of "his rellow men" for his valuable improvement ; for every

to the gratitude of mankind, and deserves well of "his gellow men" for his valuable improvement; for every nugmentation of the brilliancy of the flame, and every reduction of its cost, adds to the comforts of life, and bestews thousands upon thousands of dollars in the aggregate upon mankind.

His invention simplifies the process of manufacturing coal or rooin gas, so as to materially lessen the cost, and at the same time furnish a superior light. The light from his gas is the cheapest light new known—cheaper than oil, candles, or camphine; and the apparatus is so simple and cheap that any building having two or more rooms to light, could afford to buy it and furnish their ewn gas, as any one could soon learn the process of making it. It is more perfectly purified than other gas, hence, when burnt, it emits no smell or effluria, and, of course, it more agreeable and healthy to use. It is now in successful operation at Lyndon Centre, Vt., where it can be examined and used by any one. There is no part of it disquised or kept secret, and I understand that the inventer and his agent invites investigation, asking for no puffing or "long talk," but relying solely upon the merits of his improvements, which he says, will, by use, show for itself.

This is neither "exaggeration ner fancy sketch," but honest reality. We hall the day when this improvement will come into general use, and every man may light his own building with beautiful gas light of superior quality, and at less cost than in any other mainer.
